Jamaal is an advocate for retirement equity for all State Employees and has served as the Employee Representative on the Board of Trustees for the Maryland State Retirement and Pension System for the past two years. He has testified in the Legislature to improve and expand retirement benefits and has worked hard to protect employees' benefits.

Jamaal was born in Washington D.C. in 1981 and works as a Resident Advisor Lead and Certified Trainer for the Department of Juvenile Services (DJS). He is a 2006 graduate of Morgan State University with a Bachelor's Degree in Business Management. He is a charter member of Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia Fraternity of America at Morgan State University, and regularly attends Riverside Baptist Church in Oxon Hill, Maryland.
